MR. SIMON NELSON DIED LATE TUESDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Retired Merchant and Shirt Maker Dies After a Long and Hard Battle—Was Prominent Odd Fellow—Burial Thursday.

Mr. Simon Nelson, one of Maysville's best known citizens, died at his home in East Second street Tuesday afternoon late following a long illness of a complication of diseases. Mr. Nelson had been in very bad health for the past several years but he had made a brave fight and had continued at his business until only a short time ago when his health necessitated his retirement from active business life.

For many years he had conducted the Nelson Furnishings Store in this city and had established a business in custom shirt making which extended over many states. For years the name "S. Nelson" stood for the best to be had in shirts and hats. His one hobby was thoroughness and exactness.

Mr. Nelson was 66 years of age and had been a prominent member of Ringgold Lodge of Odd Fellows for many years, having served that order as secretary for over twenty years. In his death that lodge loses one of its most valuable members. He was also a member of Pisgah Encampment No. 9 I. O. O. F. and in his younger days was quite active in Encampment Odd Fellowship.

Besides his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Nannie Bliss, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Boles, of Birmingham, Ala., and one son, Mr. Roy Nelson, of Lexington.

Funeral in charge of the Odd Fellows will be held at the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial will be made in the Maysville cemetery.

NOTICE ODD FELLOWS.

In the death of Mr. Simon Nelson, Ringgold Lodge, No. 27, I. O. O. F. suffers the loss of one of its oldest and most valuable members. Brother Nelson was a member of our order 32 years. He was elected Secretary December 26, 1900, and served in that capacity until 18 months ago when he was compelled to give it up on account of ill health.

The funeral of Brother Nelson will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at his home in East Second street. Services will be conducted by the Odd Fellows and all Odd Fellows are hereby notified to meet at Ringgold Lodge in Market street at 1 p.m. to attend the funeral in a body. Members of sister lodges are also invited to attend.

D. M. HARRISON, Noble Grand.

R. M. GAITHER, Secretary.

REPENTANCE IS THEME OF EVANGELIST HOWARD

Many Hear Gifted Speaker Discuss Most Important Subject Under Big Tent Tuesday Evening.

Evangelist Howard in his sermon Tuesday evening asked and answered two main questions which were: (1) What is meant by repentance and (2) When can we know we have truly repented? The prophets of old and the apostles preached repentance.

Sin has a two-fold nature, sins of transgression and sin of inheritance. Jesus made possible a two-fold cure. In the Bible we find many references which speak of this cure.

Justification by faith is a judicial act in the mind of God effected in the mind of a sinner when he truly repents and believes.

There is a difference between sins or actual transgressions and sin. David said: "I acknowledge my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me," and then he prayed "Blot out my transgressions and create a clean heart within me." Prayer is not repentance. Reformation or turning over a new leaf is not repentance. Repentance has with it a retrৎpection, a looking back into one's life and meditating on God's goodness; acknowledgement also accompanies repentance. Some folks repeat not because of unwillingness to acknowledge their wrong. Sometimes we should confess not only to God but also to man and make things right with him. Repentance is a godly sorrow for sin and it goes a willingness to undo the things we have done which are wrong. Have you truly repented?

Mrs. Cox will preach this evening. Come.

EDGAR FACES CHARGE OF CUTTING TO KILL

William Edgar Found at Early Hour Wednesday Morning Hiding In Home—Faces Serious Charges.

William Edgar and Julius Tillery, better known as Alabama Joe, colored, engaged in a battle royal at Tillery's home late Tuesday evening. The battle became so severe that knives were used by both parties and Edgar, Tillery and Edgar's wife were rather painfully cut about the body.

Edgar escaped the police in an automobile driven by Everett Anderson and could not be located during the evening. Anderson was taken in charge by the police but stated that he did not know where Edgar was hiding. Late in the night the police, armed with a search warrant, went to Edgar's home where they tried to gain admission but there was no response to their alarms.

Using their search warrant, Officers Boley and Stewart entered the home through a window and found Edgar sitting in a chair. He was arrested and taken to jail. He will be given an examining trial before Judge H. C. Curran Thursday afternoon.

BISHOP ANDERSON WILL SPEAK AT RUG- GLES CAMPMEETING

Announcement That Bishop of Cincinnati Area Will Attend Campmeeting Creates much Interest—Big Array of Talent.

The management of Ruggles Campmeeting and Epworth League Institute received word Tuesday that Bishop Wm. F. Anderson, bishop in charge of the Cincinnati Area, will be present during the second week of the meetings for at least two evening addresses and possibly three. The coming of the Bishop is great news for Ruggles campers. And it goes to show the deep interest the bishop has in the institute feature of the campmeeting. Never in history has the campmeeting such an array of high class talent. From the ringing of the first bell the attendees will be treated to the best in sermon, Bible study, missionary instruction, pageantry, and general methods of church work, the church affords. The Sunday programs will be the best ever. This is a guarantee to the thousands who attend only on Sundays.

The dates should be kept in mind. Beginning on Thursday, July 27th, the services will run just as in other years until the following Monday when Dean John Lowe Fort with his corps of Institute instructors will have charge. From then until the closing service on Sunday evening, August 6th, the management will show the campers just what a real Epworth League Institute is. The charge that will be most noticeable will be the recreational feature which takes up the whole of the afternoons. There will be no service of any sort in the afternoons. Just one big time under the supervision of an expert who knows how to make people have a big time in the right way.

Persons thinking of attending should write Rev. W. S. Peters, Maysville, Ky., for one of the attractive booklets giving complete program for the institute. A supply of them will be on hand at the campgrounds next Tuesday at the Old Settlers patriotic picnic and reunion. It will be a good time then to arrange for rooms to stay during the campmeeting. This is a great opportunity for people of this section and should be taken advantage of by hundreds. The campmeeting and institute is open for all denominations. Just come along and enjoy the occasion together.

NOVEMBER 11th IS CHOSEN KENTUCKY DAY

Alumni of University of Kentucky to Observe Special Day—Every County In the State Is To Be Organized.

Lexington, Ky., June 27.—Armistice Day, November 11, was designated as "Kentucky Day" to be observed by alumni of the University of Kentucky in all parts of the world and plans were made for a statewide campaign to establish clubs in every county, at the meeting of the executive committee of the Alumni Association at the Phoenix hotel Monday night.

November 11 was selected as the day for the annual reunions because the Armistice Day celebration will mark the close of the supplementary campaign for the Memorial Building fund, to be conducted in schools which were closed before the beginning of the spring campaign.

Students of the university live in 113 counties of Kentucky and there are former students in every county. Herbert Graham, alumni secretary, said. The total of the present and former students living in Kentucky is above 20,000, he said, in speaking of plans to have them all know what the university is doing and how it may be helped.

Names of persons to serve as regional directors of alumni activities in Kentucky and other states were recommended by the committee to the president of the Alumni Association, Rodman Wiley, of Winchester, who will announce his appointments soon.

WOULD BRING CONVENTION OF U. C. T. TO MAYSVILLE

Interesting Meeting of Maysville Council Held Tuesday Evening—Banquet Is Brilliant Affair.

Maysville Council No. 38 United Commercial Travelers is taking on new life and on Tuesday evening one of the most interesting meetings ever held by the local council was held following a brilliant banquet at the Central Hotel.

Several officers of the Grand Council were in attendance and made addresses. It became known that an effort would be made at the next meeting of the annual convention to bring the meeting to Maysville for the 1923 session and the members of the local council are solidly behind the movement and expect to do everything they can to attract the convention here.

A class of fifteen candidates were initiated at Tuesday's meeting and it is learned that there are yet many applicants for initiation at the next regular meeting.

FEDERAL EASY JOB LIST ANNOUNCEMENT CREATES BIG STIR

New York Newspaper Says Congressmen Have Wives and Relatives on "Easy Job" List—Kentuckians In the Number.

It created a stir at the Capital. Copies of the publication were at a premium.

"The amount of money involved in this payroll grabbing is $290,864 per annum," the article reads, "if a large number of relatives excluded from this tabulation because they are alleged to be bona fide wage earners were included, the total would run much higher; it looks like a splendid field for Hell and Maria Dawes and his pruning knife."

The analysis of the Kentucky delegation payroll is listed in this fashion:

LIQUOR SALES ON U. S. SHIPS.

Adolphus Busch, the St. Louis brewer, while admitting, as Mr. Lasker charges, that he has a selfish motive and wishes to restore the legal right to manufacture beer as formerly, has raised a fundamental and vital issue in his letter calling attention to the fact that bars are being maintained on vessels of the Shipping Board.

Mr. Lasker's reply is wholly unconvincing. He declares that "neither the Volstead act nor the Eighteenth Amendment applies to American ships outside the three-mile limit," that "so long as foreign ports have the privilege of entering and departing from American ports serving liquor that same privilege must be granted to our merchant ships" if we are to maintain a merchant marine at all; and that, anyhow, the founder of the Busch brewery was the best friend the Kaiser had, and that the grandson, Adolphus Busch III, is selfish and anxious to prevent the United States from competing with Germany on the high seas.

As to the latter charge it is wholly irrelevant and may be ignored for the purpose of argument. It is only necessary to discuss the facts, which Mr. Lasker admits, and the assumptions which he makes.

In the first place, while the question is one for the courts to decide, the statement of Mr. Lasker that the Volstead act and the prohibition amendment do not apply to ships of the United States beyond the three-mile limit, while based upon a ruling of the Shipping Board counsel, is in direct conflict with the decision of the Solicitor General of the last administration, and contrary to the judgment of Mr. Daugherty, who stand by Mr. Frierson in his conclusions. It has certainly been the general impression among Americans that the Constitution follows the flag, and that the deck of an American vessel is American in all waters, and subject to the laws of the United States.

In the second place, the only way in which vessels of the Shipping Board can serve drinks, as they are doing, beyond the three-mile limit is to transport them within and across the waters of the shore line, which, even under Mr. Lasker's theory, is in direct violation of the prohibition act and the Eighteenth Amendment. There can be no justification of this on any ground.

In the third place, if we can have a merchant marine only on condition that every American vessel, contrary to the spirit of our laws and the public sense of right, shall become a floating gin palace, then the people of this country will vote no money in subsidies for the purpose of maintaining a merchant marine. That is so obvious as to need no argument.

Finally, Congress must not only enact legislation that will take the vessels of the United States out of the liquor business, but must also forbid foreign vessels to possess and transport intoxicating liquor within the waters under our jurisdiction.

It is well that this matter has been brought to the attention of the country while Congress is in session, and as the elections are approaching. The leaders in Washington will have no trouble arriving at the real state of public opinion on the subject, and something will be done to correct a situation which is nothing short of scandalous.

SCHOOLHOUSE DANCES

Kansas, which state furnished much of the spectacular in the early liquor prohibition fight, breaks out anew as a pioneer. But this time the fight is against the community dance or more particularly, the use of the school house as a community center where the young may enjoy dancing under the guidance of the school teacher.

In the small town of Eminence the woman school teacher held several neighborhood dances in the school house. Charges were filed against her with the state superintendent, also a woman, and the Eminence teacher was suspended. The teacher appealed to the courts and obtained a temporary restraining order. She has announced another community dance for Saturday night of this week.

The attorney general of the state has given it as his opinion that the school teacher committed no wrong and is wholly within her rights. The final outcome of the matter will be watched with great interest not only in Kansas but throughout the country.

PLACING VETS

The Labor Department is closely cooperating with the Veterans' Bureau in the placing of disabled service men in profitable employment. Secretary of Labor Davis has directed the United States Employment Service to throw open each of its fourteen district offices to the needs of the graduates of the vocational training school conducted by the Veterans' Bureau. Hundreds of those men are completing their courses in agricultural and technical lines of work, and it is not only to their advantage but to the benefit of the prospective employer that the job and the man should be brought together.

ALL DRESSED UP

A certain society dame in a certain National Capital inspired an announcement recently that she was engaged to a British marquis. The announcement was quickly followed by the publication of her picture showing her lounging nonchalantly and sporting a marquise's tiara—pawn-ticket detached. It was a little premature, but she sure looked stately, and any importing house which overlooks her as a promising propagandist for free trade is making a great mistake.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Jack Dempsey has returned to the United States after an extended trip in Europe during which he paid his first visit to the battlefields. Grover Berdell still remains in the vicinity of the German front. William G. McAdoo, who quit the Treasury when hard work loomed on the horizon, is resting in California. Joe Tumulty remains in Washington and drops in to see some of his hold-over friends in the internal revenue and other bureaus. Daniel G. Roper, who framed the internal revenue regulations while commissioner, is now working the "jokers" for the benefit of clients.

EDISON TELLS OF EARLY DAYS OF RADIO.

The radio telephone is one of the most spectacular of modern inventions. Nothing about the radio phone, however, is more marvelous than the story of its beginning and its development. The chain of events that produced the radio-phone began with the discovery by Thomas A. Edison of a thin white streak on an electric light globe. That was back in 1883. Allan L. Benson tells the story in the July number of Hearst's International Magazine.

While Thomas A. Edison's name is not popularly associated with radio developments, Mr. Benson rather suspected that the wizard of Menlo Park probably had something to do with the wireless marvel at some period in its history. He, therefore, proceeded to get the facts.

"It was in 1883," said Edison, while we were talking in his laboratory at Orange, N. J., "that I observed what scientists afterwards designated as the 'Edison effect,' upon which the radio-phone is based. An 'effect' is a term applied by physicists to a new phenomenon that cannot be explained by existing theories. While working on my carbon incandescent lamp, I observed that each bulb, after it had burned for some time, was blackened inside except for a thread-like streak opposite one leg of the filament."

The streak of clear glass interested because I could not understand it. So far as I knew, there was no reason why it should be there. As I studied it, I observed that the streak was always nearest to the leg of the filament that was connected with the positive side of the circuit. It was as if this leg were casting a shadow. I finally deduced that the negative leg of the filament was throwing off particles of carbon that blackened all of the interior of the bulb except the thin line on the opposite side which was shielded by the other leg of the filament.

Edison took out a patent for a wireless telegraph in 1881. A number of years before that he had taken out a patent on an electric valve without which no wireless instrument that is now in use would work. In his patent application, filed more than thirty years ago, Edison declared:

"I have discovered that if sufficient elevation be attainable to overcome the curvature of the earth's surface and to reduce to the minimum the earth's absorption, electric telegraphing or signalling between distant points can be carried on by induction without the use of wires connecting such distant points. This discovery is especially applicable to telegraphing across bodies of water, thus avoiding the use of submarine cables, or for communicating between vessels at sea, or between vessels at sea and points on land; but it is also applicable to electric communication between distant points on land...."

Being busy with the development of incandescent lighting, Mr. Edison sold his wireless patent to Marconi. It would be as difficult to say who invented the radiohone now in popular use as it would be to say who invented the automobile.

"It was built up" said Edison. Lee DeForest probably had more to do than did any other one man with the development of wireless telephony. He introduced into the lamp between the plate and the filament a little sieve by means of which the rate of passage of the electrons may be controlled.

Edison pointed on a diagram to the little sieve and said: "It is a beauti-

Cigarette

It's toasted. This one extra process gives a rare and delightful quality —impossible to duplicate.

Guaranteed by

ful invention." It was plain from the way he said it that DeForest had done something that elicited his admiration. John J. Carty, Chief Engineer of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, is the great technician of the radio-phone. He has taken the invention and made it work. He was, who, in November, 1921, enabled crowds in New York, San Francisco, and every great city between these points, to hear President Harding's address as part of the ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington.

Mr. Edison says that he believes the wireless telephone will have a profound influence upon American political campaigns. Future presidential candidates will not journey about the country but will speak to millions by wireless from their headquarters. I think the small orators will be driven out of business," Mr. Edison remarked.

Inasmuch as sound and light are both derived from etheric waves differing only in frequency, Mr. Benson asked Edison if it were not conceivable that the radio might yet carry grand opera to prairie firesides where it could not be seen and heard.

"It is conceivable," he replied, "but there is nothing in scientific knowledge as it now stands to indicate that it will ever be done. There are 125,000,000 nerves that lead from the eye to the brain. If I could string 125,000,000 wires from here to New York, (we were talking in Edison's laboratory in Orange, N. J., remember) we might be able to see New York from here."

"The general public" says Mr. Benson, "always seem to sense a great invention."

When Edison invented the incandescent electric light, public interest in it was so great that the Pennsylvania Railroad ran excursion trains to Menlo Park. People flocked to see Edison's first electric engine. President Hayes sat up until 3:30 in the morning to hear Edison's first phonograph say, "Mary had a little lamb," and, "There was a little girl who had a little curl, etc."

The same instinct is now directing public attention to the radio-telephone. The broadcasting of President Harding's speech at Arlington, in November, 1921, was the starting-point. The people of the Middle West were the first to sense the importance of the new device. A Detroit newspaper began broadcasting in January.

A month later New York City awoke with a start. Two afternoon newspapers began printing daily radio-pages and weekly radio magazine sections. Department stores installed radio-phone departments and sold instruments while radio music rang through the store. Manufacturers of instruments were swamped with orders. Half dozen big cities east of the Mississippi River were broadcasting musical programs and speeches every night.

Honest is a prevailing virtue among most Chinamen. Some of them in their native towns and cities leave their places of business unguarded while they go off for half an hour or more. Should customers arrive in the meantime, they find the prices of goods plainly marked, select what they want, and leave the money for them.

Unless the public instinct, which has been bright heretofore, is wrong this time, the radio-phone is destined to make a big place for itself.

Mr. C. R. Ellis, of Columbus, Ohio, is visiting his father, Mr. C. C. Ellis at Aberdeen. Mr. Ellis' many friends in Maysville will be very glad to know that he is now the manager of a large and influential business in the capital city of Ohio.

AMERICAN LEGION MEMORIAL

To Be Dedicated at Fourth Annual Convention of American Legion of Kentucky, August 28-30.

Dedicatory ceremonies of the American Legion Memorial at Mammoth Cave will feature the fourth annual convention of the American Legion of Kentucky at Hotel Glasgow, Ky., August 28, 29 and 30, 1922.

On third day the entire program will be held at Mammoth Cave.

In the "Rotunda," one of the Cave's majestic domes, and the junction point for the several branches of the historical old cavern there will be dedicated a memorial, the base of which will be a crypt for the names of the heroic and immortal dead of the World War from the entire Nation.

This monument will be erected by the members of Barren County Post, 28, of Glasgow.

Mammoth Cave which has been in existence before man himself and will endure until the remotest point of time will be a most suitable place to perpetuate the undying memory of the heroes of the World War. Little need be said of the history of Mammoth Cave, and to try to describe it in so short a sketch would be a task little short of impossible.

The Cave was known and used as a designation point for surveys as early as the year 1797. From the part of the cave near the entrance, saltpeter was mined for the manufacture of gunpowder during the war of 1812. It is near the remains of these saltpeter works which may yet be seen in the cave that the Legion monument will be erected.

Nothing could be more fitting than that we should complete a triangle of hallowed ground in Kentucky, and no more appropriate spot could be chosen for such a national monument than this gigantic hole which winds for miles and miles under the hills and valleys of God's Garden Spot — Kentucky.

About fifty miles to the northwest of Mammoth Cave lies the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, now dedicated into a National Park to stand as a perpetual honor to the poor farm boy who rose above the pressure of circumstances and became the Union's helmsman during its most tempestuous days.

To the southwest of the cave, almost equidistant, on the site of the farm where the first and only president of the Southern Confederacy first saw the light of day, remnants of the Gray Host are erecting a shaft to their honored leader, Jeff Davis.

The erection of this American Legion Monument will complete the triangle, the corners of the base being represented by the birthplaces of America's Civil War Presidents, the apex, the resting place of the names of the fallen warriors of our present day democracy.

Storms, fires, vandals and war may destroy or uproot cemeteries and monuments on the surface of the earth, but nothing less than a violent eruption of the earth itself will ever efface this unusual subterranean centotaph.

Annually from all parts of the world this famous old cave is visited by thousands, and before this monument they will pause and do homage to the forever silent American Soldiers.

The day will be a red-letter day in the annals of the American Legion, and the people of Kentucky.

The services will be marked with great simplicity, but of unusual beauty and solemnity.

Invitations have been extended President Warren G. Harding, General John J. Pershing, Governor Edwin P. Morrow, Lieut.-Governor Ballard; all of Kentucky's representatives in Congress, National officers of the American Legion, and the various state headquarters of the American Legion.

Compilation of these names is now being completed by the various state headquarters of the American Legion and the Legion representatives from every state in the Union have been asked to deposit lists at the ceremonious.

Tentative program will be announced shortly.

The dedicatory address will be delivered by Hanford MacNider, National Commander of the American Legion. An important place on the program will be taken care of by Gold Star mothers of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

All delegates to the convention at Glasgow will take part in the services. Permission has been granted for the erection of this monument by the Mammoth Cave management, and for the first time in the history of the cave the gates will be thrown open for the delegates and visitors to the ceremonies.

Progress is being made on the new home of Mr. W. H. Hall on the old ball park property in East Second street. This is to be one of the prettiest homes in the East End of the city.

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty-thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of the own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end to end the type of this would reach from New York to Chicago. Thousand of good words told by 50,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Maysville sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Maysville case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

E. S. Lee, proprietor grocery store, 322 Market street, says: "I think Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine remedy and gladly recommend them. I use them every now and then when my kidneys get out of order or my back gets to hurting and the yester relieve the trouble. Doan's tone up my system and give me better health generally every time I use them."

RSEVE M. A. MATTHEWS CHURCH DETRACTORS.

It is an easy matter to criticise. Any fool can find objections. Any idiot can strike a match light a fire, which will consume a mansion. Many people were born in the objective case. They never escape their cradle. They spend their days kicking, objecting, and complaining. They are just common, offensive, ever-present, irradiated nuisances. They are constantly talking about the church, what she is doing, what she ought to do, what she is not doing. They work incessantly at the business of trying to detract from the church influence and power.

FIRST — They say the church is declining. But they do not tell you that they are looking at a few fallen trees only and not at the whole forest. Of course, there are dead trees in the forest. Of course there are dwarf rows in the great garden of vegetation. They ought to be there. That is the place for them. There are objectionable, or bad people in the church who by their lives are misrepresenting the church and reflecting upon their own membership. But they are not the whole church. They are a very insignificant part of the church. There are hypocrites in the church. There are hypocrites in every department of life. But there are fewer hypocrites in the church than in any other department of life. The word hypocrite means, playing part. There are very few factors in the church. There are heretics in the church who have allowed the rationalism teachings of German-directed German professors, and have strayed away from the spiritual doctrines of the infallible Word of God. They are very few in number, however, compared to the great body of Christians.

SECOND — They say the church is pauperized. But they do not tell you that those who have refused to support the church are among the rationalistic heretics. They are the real ones who have under rationalistic teachings become so materialistic that they would rob the church of her sacred vessels for their own banquet of selfishness and blemishes. Such heretics are the real defrauders and detractors and exploiters of the church. The real saints of God are giving more money today than ever before in the history of the church. They are supporting the whole program of Christian evangelism.

THIRD — They say the church is not spiritual. But they do not tell you that the worldly and unrighteous in the church are the disciples of the rationalistic teachers of the infamous doctrines of the demon-created cults that are today thriving upon the credulous and the silly minded. Such are a disgrace to the church because they have given up the spiritual for the worldly the selfish and the sordid things of life.

FOURTH — They say the church is not paying her ministers. But they do not tell you that the only ones who are refusing to support the ministers are the hypocrites, the Bolsheviks, the Socialists, the heretics, and the infamous Germanized rationalists who have crept into the church without the wedding garment. Such are the only ones who are refusing to support the Gospel, pay the ministers, or give him his due place. Such are the cold-headed, irreverent detractors and perverters of the church life, influence, and service. They are void of every

WOMEN AND MEDICINE.

In Europe, years ago, a woman named Hildegarde wrote a notable book on medicinal plants. In those days the men were too busy bothering about the dogmas of religion and medicine, and the study of herbs was thought beneath their notice.

It was the women, however, who mostly conducted the hospitals and cared for the sick, and thus they learned much of great value. They let the men fight out the questions of theories.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, prepared almost fifty years ago by a woman, Lydia E. Pinkham, did then, and does now, relieve the ailments peculiar to women. It is a vegetable compound and of great value for this purpose. This is proven day after day, and in your own neighborhood, by grateful women who have used it.

Miss Helen Tonnies, of Walnut Hills and Mrs. Leonard Dawson, of Newport, Ky., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Paul.
